MATTY A PUZZLE
Cowboys Couldn't Hit Him, So Giants Won a Good Battle.

The batting order.

New York. St. Louis. Polo Grounds, Sept. 9.—The weather promised an improvement in the playing of the Giants this afternoon and there was an appreciable increase in the number of fans who waited for the gates to open.

The unexpected awakening of Davis' hired men in Saturday's argument with the St. Louis outfit showed that there was still some latent energy in the team that only awaited certain conditions to blaze up and do business.

Manager Davis tried a new upstart named Miller on second, and the fans agreed he was the "real thing."

In the first Van made a clever steal from the first sack and stretched it to third on a wild throw by Nichols. Matty started off a little and sent his first two men along on passes. Then he settled down and played up to concert pitch.

Warner reached first on Schriver's wild throw in the first half of the third. Matty reached first by sliding under Schriver's outstretched arm. Seibach scratched a rap to the infield, filling the corners. Wallace let Seibach hit at through, scoring two. Van sacrificed, advancing Seibach and McBride.

On Wallace's second error, Seibach and McBride scored. After Strang fled out, Miller landed on the first ball pitched for a corking single and the crowd went up and howled. Kruger scored for St. Louis in the fifth on a single, wild pitch, a sacrifice and Nichols' out at first.

Five Balls Put Giants Out.

The Giants were retired in their half of the fifth on five pitched balls—two out at first, a single and two more steps at the initial sack. In the eighth, Strang's hit to Wallace and the latter's wild throw over Schriver's head brought Hammy to third base. Miller made a good try to bring him in, but was counted out by a fraction of an inch. Gansel popped up as usual, but Strang was brought in by Warner's screeching two bagger over Heidrick's head. This made Warner's third hit of the game, two doubles and a single.

Features of the Game.

The features of the first game were the stick work of Warner, the fielding of Strang and the wild throw of Seibach. He would have scored if he had not been carried in the fifth and made a wild pitch. Matty struck out such heavy hitters as Heidrick, Donovan and Padden, the latter three times.

SCORE BY INNINGS.

St. Louis. New York. Polo Grounds, Sept. 9.—Victory in the first half of the double header today gave the Giants a lot of confidence for the second argument. It was evident in every move they made and the fans began figuring on a double victory.

First Inning.

Davis sent the visitors to bat first. Seibach got a free pass. Heidrick sent Burkett to third on his third bagger. Strang reached Wallace's easy one to Seibach. Burkett and Heidrick scored on Padden's safe one over Davis' head. Donovan disposed of Miller to Gansel. Padden reaching second, Schriver ballooned to Van, retiring the side. Two runs.

Seibach landed on the first one, but it got no further than Padden, who handed it to Schriver. McBride was pitched out on a close decision. Strang walked and Sudhof mixed it up with Kruger. Van reached safe on first. Van went to the next station for a ball throw to first to catch him napping. Davis sent a far one to Donovan. No runs.

Second Inning.

Livingston replaced Maud in the box for the Giants. Davis sent a free pass. Kruger went wide, and the latter walked. Nichols stopped a hot one with his body, and the ambulance was escorted him to first. Davis' "call down" did Livingston no good for Sudhof walked. Strang walked and Heidrick singled, letting Kruger and Nichols score the goal line. Heidrick tried to strangle, but Strang let it go. Strang then sent a lofty one to center, and Van didn't have to move to get it. Wallace got a shot in the back and the fans shouted for a new pitcher.

With the bases filled Padden forced Seibach at the plate. Donovan sent a good one over third, scoring Wallace and Burkett. Padden and Donovan had a double steal. Schriver sent a low one, which Davis couldn't handle, and Padden ambled home. Livingston threw Kruger out, and the misery was over. Five runs.

Strang reached first on Padden's bawled one. Gansel was safe on Wallace's fumble. Strang reaching second, Bowdman reached first under easy canvas on Sudhof's gift. The ambulance was over to the third corner. Bowdman woke up a second too late at first and finished his nap on the bench. Livingston was a little better at the bat than in the box, but was caught at first. No runs.

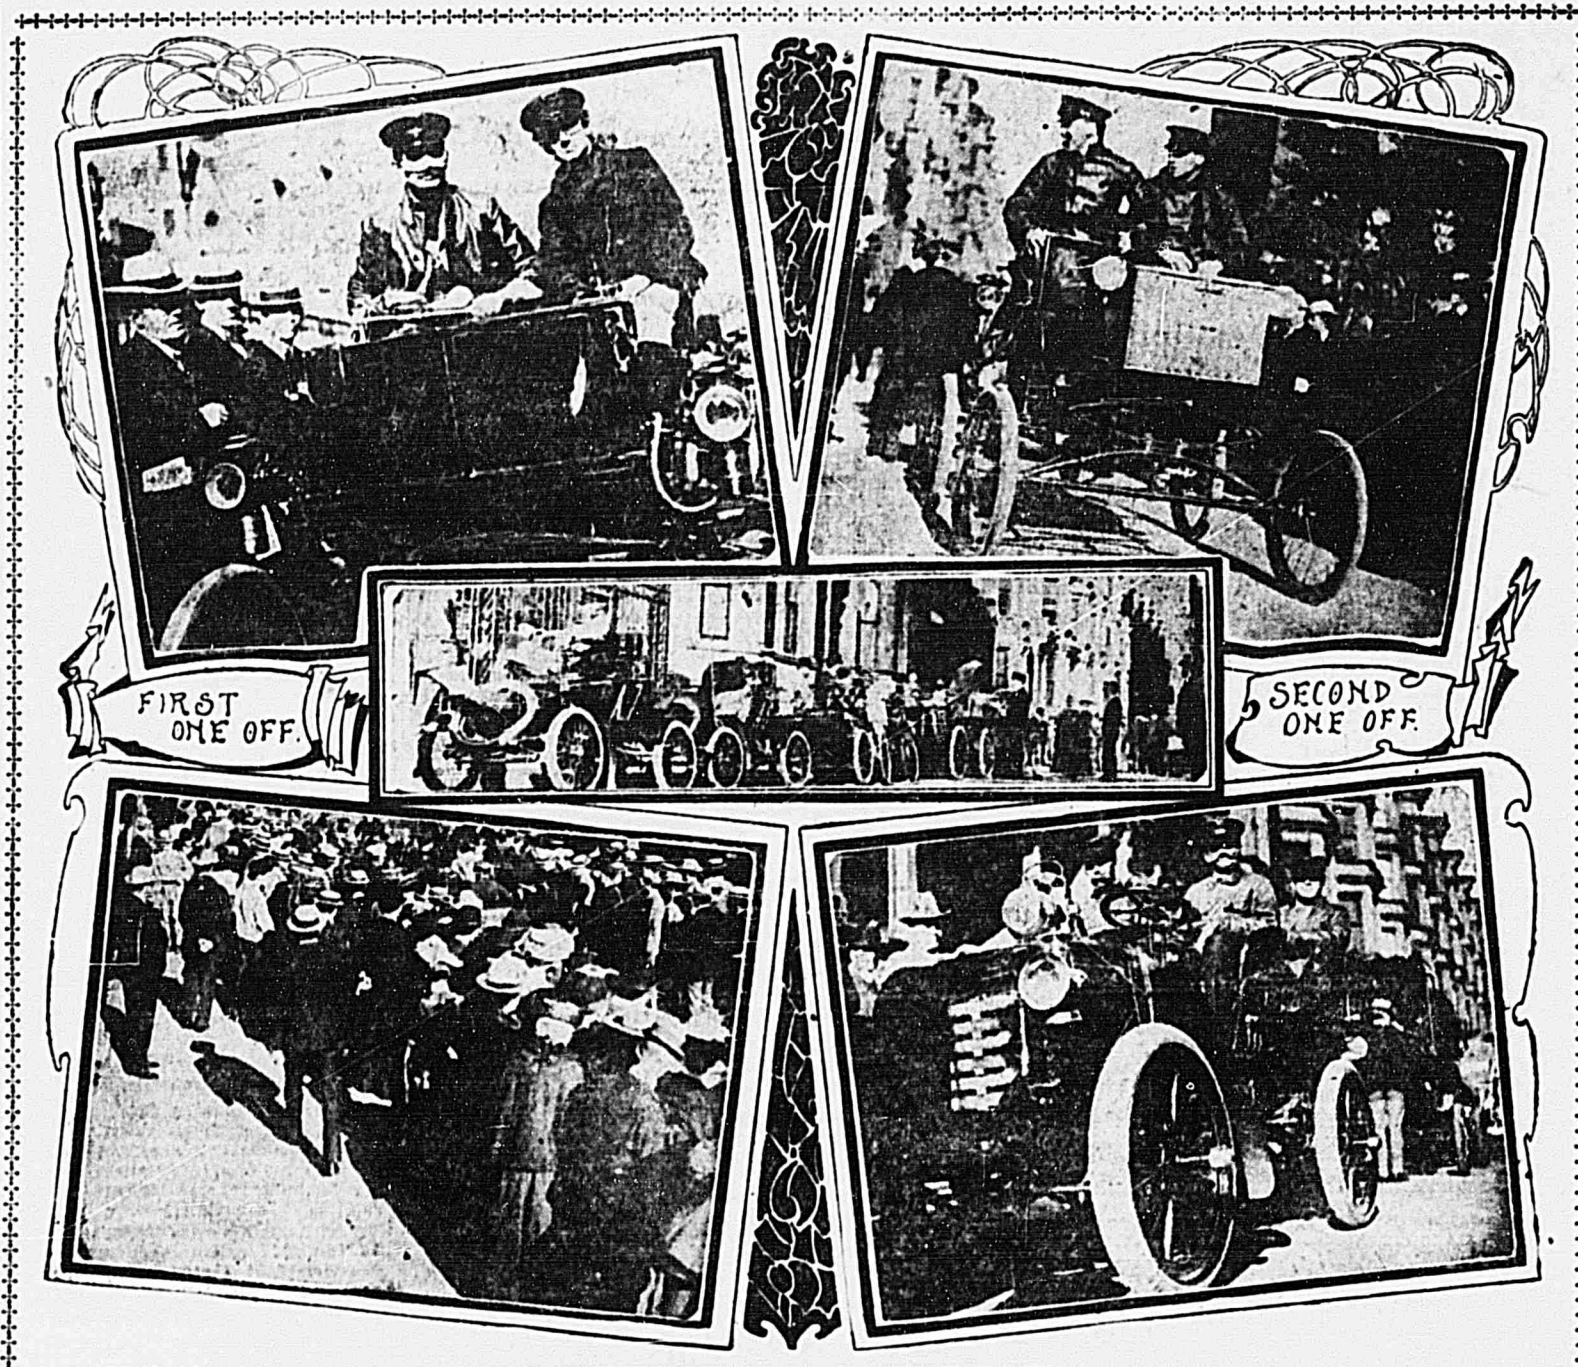

Third Inning.

Nichols was left at the post. Sudhof walked and Seibach made his second hit of the game, advancing Sudhof to the midway station. Van, who had been in the box, was sent to the mound and required several minutes work before he resumed. Heidrick sent a high one to McBride and Sudhof moved up on the throw-in. Wallace brought in Sudhof by a hot one to Seibach. The ambulance corps was again brought into use to see that Padden got to first. He was hit by a pitched ball. Donovan fled out. One run.

Seibach made a lob to Heidrick. McBride doubled to left field. "Pop" Van Haltrin walked and took a walk. Davis sent a long drive to left, scoring McBride, but Van was nipped at the plate. Strang was driven in free pass as Miller stepped to the bar. He tore down to first like a Futurity winner and beat out by Burkett. Davis sent a low one to Seibach, scoring Davis. Miller was nabbed at second. Two runs.

Fourth Inning.

Schriver popped to Davis. Kruger singled, which Van just missed. Nichols forced Kruger. Davis to Miller. Seibach was driven in free pass as Miller stepped to the bar. He tore down to first like a Futurity winner and beat out by Burkett. Davis sent a low one to Seibach, scoring Davis. Miller was nabbed at second. Two runs.
